PREFACE

This course outline has been prepared as an instructional guide. The content is by no means exhaustive. The key to success in presenting this quinquimester course depends upon the manner in which the presentations are made---and this involves YOU! We assure you that your judgment is respected and needed in determining the most effective means for implementation of this exploratory unit. Optimally, we anticipate that each department within your school will become an active participant in the project.

Career development is an ongoing process. The choice of an occupation is actually an expression of an individual's self-concept, therefore, the earlier a boy or girl begins to feel a sense of worth and self direction the greater seems to be his personal achievement and his ability to analyze the best alternatives that may enhance his plans. In Project You, we attempt to provide a series of exploratory experiences, each requiring evaluation as to its significance for future career development.

* Topics can be rearranged to suit your teaching methods. It is also highly recommended that you supplement your instructions, by using the Project You Teacher and Student Guide, available through the Textbook Department of the Dade Public School System.

Skits and additional problem-solving incidents are included in the Project You Guide.

It is our sincere hope that teachers who use this guide will find it a help in directing young people toward a better understanding of themselves and the opportunities available to them as they develop into contributing members of society.

* A suggested list of available films has been included in this guide for your use.

| FOCUS   | OBJECTIVE  | LEARNING ACTIVITIES   |
|---|--|---|
| Why Plan? Who is responsible for planning my future? When should planning begin? | The student will be able to list several reasons why planning is important. | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Open with a short introduction stating reasons why planning is important.</li> <li>2. General discussion, drawing from the students their ideas of why planning is important.</li> <li>3. The student will keep a notebook for this course. The first entry will be a list of reasons why planning is important.</li> <li>4. Discuss whose responsibility planning for my future is. Why is it my responsibility?</li> <li>5. Discuss when planning for future should begin.</li> </ol> |

| FOCUS           | OBJECTIVE  | LEARNING ACTIVITIES   |
|-----------------|--|---|
| Decision-Making | The student will be able to define the term decision making. The student will use the method suggested in making a decision and/or formulate his own process for making decisions. The student will apply the process to a problem situation. | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. The teacher will open with a short introduction on the importance of developing the ability to make a decision. The teacher will present one method used for making decisions, for example one decision-making method is called SELF. Each letter represents a step in arriving at a decision.               SELF Sort-out things that you know or can find out.               Either/or-list the alternatives (other possibilities).               Look-at the possible consequences (or outcome).               Finally-make your decision by weighing the choices and considering how they will affect you. </li> <li>2. Lead a discussion to formulate with the students their own process for making a decision.</li> <li>3. Present a hypothetical problem needing a decision. Group the students (5 in a group) and using the process formulated or the SELF method, solve the problem.</li> <li>4. The group will present their solutions to the problem.</li> <li>5. The teacher will point out the differences in the various solutions.</li> <li>6. The group will also present alternative solutions.</li> </ol> |

| Values | The student will be able to identify "values" that are important to him. | The teacher will introduce and clarify the term values. The teacher will lead a discussion on values. Students are frequently faced with problems of doing something that they don't believe in but do it because it is the "in" thing to do. If this is true, values are involved in these decisions. Let's try the SELF method in talking about values. SORT OUT THE FACTS YOU KNOW ABOUT VALUES. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. You will be able to make decisions more easily when you understand your values.</li> <li>2. Values are relative. Another way to state this is values depend on how much you really want something.</li> <li>3. Some values are more important than others.</li> <li>4. Each person's values differ.</li> <li>5. Day by day you are developing a value system.</li> <li>6. Values you develop will be reflected in your emotional maturity, moral judgements, educational aspirations, and physical developments.</li> </ol> EITHER YOU STAND UP FOR THE THINGS THAT ARE IMPORTANT TO YOUORYOU GET PUSHED ALONG WITH THE CROWD |

You may begin to understand your self better.</li><li>2. You may make decisions which are meaningful to you.</li><li>3. You may come nearer to being the kind of person you want to be.</li><li>4. # WHAT'S MY SCORE

Now that I have finished the Inventory, how can I "add up the answers" to discover what my answers tell about me?
I will keep these tips in mind as I study my self inventory:

1. What are my likes and dislikes?
____ a. Do I seem to prefer to work with people?
____ b. With ideas (such as research for writing papers, science, experiments)?
____ c. Or with things (models, gadgets, mechanical equipment)?
____ d. Do I prefer to work indoors? ____ Outdoors?
____ e. Do I like to work out details and do routine work (checking columns of figures, making lists of things, etc.)?
____ f. Or do I prefer a job which offers a variety of duties with fewer details (being a receptionist or an entertainer)?
____ g. Do I prefer physical activity?
____ h. Or mental activity?
____ i. Am I a natural leader (head of clubs and teams)?
____ j. Or do I prefer to have someone tell me what to do?
2. What are my physical and mental characteristics?
____ a. Am I physically strong?
____ b. Am I nervous?
____ c. Do I work until a job is finished?
____ d. Am I shy? ____ Self-confident?
____ e. Do I become angry easily?
____ f. Am I calm, slow to anger?
3. What job fields do I seem to be especially interested in? READ CAREFULLY before answering.
(A job field is a group of jobs with a similar purpose, and for which one needs somewhat similar skills. For instance, the building trades job field includes carpenter, plumber, sheet metal worker. The health job field includes technician, hospital orderly. The clerical field includes stenographer, typist, file clerk, business machine operator. Transportation, sales, farming, and mechanical work are other job fields.

When I begin planning my career, I will study job fields first, rather than particular jobs. In that way, I will more likely find the career that's right for me.)

- a. _____
b. _____
c. _____

Suppose that my answers indicate no particular interest in any job field. This is possible; ask this question:

What further education, after high school, will I need to go with my interests? (For example, do my hobbies, school record, reading, etc., indicate that I would do well and be interested in going to college, taking a vocational course, going to some business or technical school? Or just completing high school?)

_____
_____
_____
_____
_____

Also, I might discuss my findings with my parents, teacher, counselor to get their opinions. They may see me differently.

OBJECTIVE

The student will be able to define and compare the terms unskilled, semiskilled, and skilled.

The student will be able to list training requirements for the various skills or trades.

The student will be able to define the term trades.

The student will be able to explain the apprenticeship program process.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

The instructor will introduce the terms unskilled, semiskilled, and skilled and define each.

1. Unskilled--the occupational group with the lowest educational attainment.

2. Semiskilled-- the single biggest occupational group. These people make up the labor force in factories as assembly line workers, machine tenders and related jobs in the mass production industries, also taxi drivers, bus and truck drivers

3. Skilled--a strategic group characterized by high earnings, responsibilities, and formal training leading to industrial supervision.

Given the definitions of the divisions of the labor force, the student will research through the library the educational processes and list them categorically.

Example:

List Educational Requirements

|              |   |           |

FOCUS

Social Security

OBJECTIVE

1. The student will know why having a social security number is important.
2. The student will be able to list some of the benefits received from social security.
3. The student will be able to list the three times it is important to contact his Social Security Office.
4. The student will know how to apply for a social security number.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

The teacher will open with background information on Social Security.

For Example: During working years employees, their employers, and self-employed people pay social security contributions which are collectively placed in three special funds. When earnings stop or are reduced because the worker retires, dies, or becomes disabled, monthly cash benefits are paid from these funds to replace part of the earnings the family has lost.

Part of the contributions go into a hospital insurance fund; when workers and their dependents reach 65, money from this fund helps pay their hospital bills.

The social security protection you earn stays with you when you change jobs, when you move from city to city, when you move to another state.

Nearly any job you take will be covered by social security; you earn protection under social security while you serve in the armed forces also.

YOU WILL NEED A SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER IF YOUR WORK IS COVERED BY THE SOCIAL SECURITY LAW. Your employer will ask for your social security number when you start to work or when you change jobs so that your wages will be properly credited to your social security earnings record.

You need only one social security number during your life time. If you change your name or lose your card a telephone call to any Social Security Office will result in a representative helping you obtain a card showing your new name or to get a duplicate of the card you have lost.

The stub (which is attached to the card when you receive it) is to be kept with other important papers, such as your birth certificate, insurance policies, etc. If you should lose the top portion of your card, you can get an immediate replacement at any social security office by presenting the stub. 2. A speaker should be secured from the Social Security Office who will give additional information and answer any questions. 3. Class discussion on the information given 4. WHEN DOES SOCIAL SECURITY BECOME IMPORTANT TO YOU AND YOUR FAMILY? Does your family know the three times you should be sure to contact your Social Security Office? Check to see if your parents are aware of these three times when they should check about benefits: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a.
